ART in ELT: Engaging with Art in Content-Based Learning

Alice Savage (M.A. TESOL) teaches an English through theater class at Lone Star College in Houston Texas. In addition to drama, her interests include genre-based approaches, multi-model projects, and content-based instruction. A long-time materials writer for Oxford University Press, Cambridge University Press and Pearson, she has also written plays for the classroom and has authored a book on using Drama in English language teaching for Alphabet publishing.
